John W. Spellman is a private client services attorney who serves as general counsel to high-net-worth individuals, their families and their businesses.

Strong experience leads to a wealth of knowledge

John focuses his practice on domestic and international estate and tax planning, and the administration of complex estates and trusts. John has experience drafting wills, complex trusts and other estate planning instruments designed to preserve wealth and provide for future generations. He also advises clients on business succession planning, family wealth preservation, and estate and trust administration.

During law school, John served as a judicial extern for the Honorable Paul L. Friedman of the United States District Court for the District of Columbia and as an honors intern for the United States Department of the Treasury.
