Clients rely on Lucy Kweskin's robust experience and industrious work ethic to guide them in all stages of corporate restructurings across a wide range of industries. With a proactive approach, Lucy focuses her practice on lenders but also advises stakeholders across the capital structure, including debtors, distressed acquirers, official committees of unsecured creditors, litigation financiers and landlords, through complex insolvency and reorganization scenarios. With her commitment to providing comprehensive service, Lucy works closely with mergers and acquisitions (M&A), finance and litigation teams to address the client's needs from all angles.

Trusted adviser with demonstrated success in unique bankruptcy matters

Lucy has counseled major companies in both in-court and out-of-court restructuring matters and is highly experienced in corporate aspects of restructuring, including forbearance agreements, foreclosures, restructuring support agreements, debtor-in-possession financing, 363 sales and Chapter 11 plans. In addition, she often litigates bankruptcy-related disputes concerning valuation, make-whole claims, inter-creditor issues, fraudulent transfers, recharacterization, veil piercing and breaches of fiduciary duty.

Lucy is a Lecturer of Law at Columbia Law School, teaching a seminar entitled "Advanced Bankruptcy: Deals and Issues in the Current Environment." During law school, Lucy served as a judicial intern for US Bankruptcy Court Judge Robert E. Gerber. Prior to law school, she worked at Deutsche Bank.
